

Sunday, September 14, 2008 6:23 AM CDT

Put Democrats in office

BRIAN WILLIAMS

WATERLOO --- When are we going to finally make sure that Republicans get the message that smear campaigns, personal attacks and spreading lies, half-truths and rumors about their opponents simply will not win an election? From presidential to the local sheriffs race, I have heard rumor, innuendo, and bold face lies about the Democratic opponents. Most of these occasions were easily researched and easier to disprove as false, but I think that this practice of having nothing good to say about yourself, so opting to say something bad about your opponent has got to stop.

Tony Thompson is a good man. He has done a great job in his 15 years. He has represented the sheriff, the sheriff's office and himself well during his service. He is a committed public servant and involved in so many service groups and organizations it is unreal. These I might add aren't ones that he just joined because he's running for sheriff of Black Hawk County. He has been involved for many years. Similarly, Barack Obama has an outstanding resume of standing up for the community, the "little man" and opting to serve the public rather than his own interests. This year it is an easy vote for me. From the courthouse to the White House, it is Democrats all the way!